BURTON WILL FIGHT LAME DUCKS

NORRIS AMENDMENT WILL REACH HOUSE VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

Would Change Date Of Inaugurations And Sessions

WASHINGTON, March 1.—Rep. Theodore Burton, (R) of Ohio, one of the conservative leaders of the house, today was named to lead the fight for the adoption of the White-Norris constitutional amendment to abolish "lame duck" sessions of congress.

Backers of the measure hailed Burton's acceptance of the post with enthusiasm, declaring that it would answer the complaint of "radicalism" which has been raised against the measure.

After a five-year intermittent fight over the proposal, house leaders have agreed to bring it up for a vote next Tuesday.

The amendment proposed by Rep. White (R) of Kansas probably will be pushed ahead of the resolution of Sen. Norris (R) of Nebraska, which already has passed the senate. Differences would be worked out in conference committees.

The White resolution changes the date of presidential inaugurations from March 4 to January 24, and would call congress into session on January 4 each year, instead of the first Monday in December. It continues the short session principle by providing that sessions in even-numbered years would end on May 4.

"I am fully committed to the principles of the resolutions," explained Rep. Burton. "I think the interval between the election of president and members of congress and the inauguration and actual taking of seats by members is too long. There should be a more immediate response to the popular will. In no other country is it possible for a member of congress to be delayed in taking his seat until 13 months after election."

"I do not think it is right to have a session of congress after election. You can conceive of this situation—the outgoing congress, which may have been defeated, could inaugurate policies which would prevent the carrying out of the expressed will of the people."

The long delay in the inauguration of a president and assembling newly elected members of congress originated in colonial days when the country was sparsely populated, he said. Modern transportation, he said, has made the plan obsolete.

Some opposition of the resolution is expected by Burton, and a two-thirds vote will be necessary to adopt it.

FOUR KILLED WHEN AUTO LEAVES ROAD

WILLIAMSON, W. Va., March 1.—Four persons are dead and two others are expected to die as the result of an automobile accident late yesterday when the machine in which they were riding went off the road and dropped twenty-five feet over a sheer, stone wall, four miles south of here.

The dead: Mrs. Alice Rakes, 51; and her 11-year-old son, Bruce; John Fletcher, 48; and Mrs. Leona Johnson, 47. All are of Chattooga, W. Va., except Fletcher, who lived in Naugatuck, W. Va.

Noah Johnson, 45, husband of Mrs. Leona Johnson, and their nine-year-old daughter, Darline, are in a hospital at Logan, W. Va., both with fractured skulls.

The cause of the accident has not been learned. The car fell directly on a railroad track. The wrecked machine and the victims were discovered and the track cleared only a short time before the arrival of a train.

DEATH WINS FIGHT OVER BABE'S LIFE

LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 1.—Science was loser today in a 72-hour battle to save the life of baby Betty Chendard, who ceased breathing a few hours after her advent into the world, Sunday night. Examination showed a leaky heart valve.

Efforts of medical science and use of an inhalator restored the baby's breathing. Until the infant's death last night members of the police and fire departments remained on duty in the hospital room holding the inhalator over Betty's nostrils.

Physicians had hoped that nature would heal the heart leak.

JONES FLOOD BILL LOOMING AS BASIS FOR COMPROMISE

Plan Would Protect Mississippi Basin From Floods

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The new Jones flood control bill, authorizing a $225,000,000 fund to protect the Mississippi Valley from future floods, loomed today as the basis for a compromise acceptable to both house and senate leaders.

The bill would provide for the construction of new high-level levees and spillways to divert future floods under a compromise between the control plans drafted by the army board of engineers and the Mississippi River Commission. The states of the flooded area would have to bear a $5,000,000 share of the cost.

The bill, already approved by the senate commerce committee, was described as a "long step toward justice" by Rep. Frank R. Reid, (R) of Illinois, chairman of the house flood control committee. It met with endorsement from other house leaders who have been seeking a compromise between the Reid bill, putting the cost of all relief work on the government, and the Jadwin (administration) plan, which would make the Mississippi Valley states bear a twenty per cent or $65,000,000 share of the cost.

A final compromise probably will be agreed upon sometime this week at a conference between President Coolidge, Senator Wesley L. Jones (R) of Washington, author of the senate bill, and Rep. Reid. It was reported that the president was friendly to the Jones bill although not yet committed to it. Reid evidenced a similar attitude.

The bill met the approval of Senators Willis (R) of Ohio, and Sackett (R) of Kentucky, so-called "tributary" leaders, while Senators Harris, and Stephens of Mississippi, and Ransdell and Broussard, of Louisiana, all Democrats, endorsed it, speaking for the flooded areas.

THIRTEEN MINERS CRUSHED TO DEATH

RECKLINGHAUSEN, Germany, March 1.—Thirteen miners were killed instantly here today when the pit cage which was lowering them down to work in a mine crashed to the bottom of the pit.

The tragedy was caused by the bursting of the ropes to which the pit cage was attached.

Recklinghausen is in the state of Westphalia, in the heart of the Ruhr district, which is the most important coal mining section of Germany.

MRS. COOLIDGE HURRIES TO MOTHER

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., March 1.—Mrs. Calvin Coolidge was speeding here today from Washington to visit her mother, Mrs. Elmira Goodhue, who is seriously ill from influenza in a hospital here.

The president's wife, who is herself convalescing from an attack of grippe, is making the trip by train. She left the White House last night.

WASHINGTON, March 1.—The and its bonds, also was called. The reported generosity of Harry F. Sinclair toward the Republican National Committee during his possession of the Teapot Dome oil lease was subjected to further inquiry today by the senate public lands committee.

The committee summoned William Wallace, J. New York attorney for William Boyce Thompson, a former finance director of the Republican National Committee, in an effort to learn whether Sinclair distributed a huge sum in bonds to be paid in owing off debts of the Republican National Committee, incurred during the 1920 campaign.

According to reports reaching the senate committee, Sinclair distributed a huge sum in bonds to be paid in owing off debts of the Republican National Committee, incurred during the 1920 campaign. These debts were said to have been paid during 1922 and 1923, while Sinclair was in possession of Teapot Dome and the senate prepared to investigate his lease.

WHAT! ARE JOHN'S CLASSIC FEATURES MARRIED? PERISH THE THOUGHT, GIRLS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 1.—While the boulevard bubbled with exciting talk, occasioned by the disclosure of a fist duel between John Barrymore, romantic lover of stage and screen, and Myron Selznick, motion picture producer, efforts to reach Barrymore for his version of the encounter were unavailing early today.

The star was reported to be in Arrowhead Lake, a nearby resort. Although Selznick, in revealing the fact that he and Barrymore had engaged in the exchange of blows on the Ambassador Hotel lawn last Saturday night, inferred that the actor had received the worst end of the fight, witnesses who were on the scene at the time, indicated today that both combatants shared honors equally.

The hostilities, according to Selznick, grew out of some remarks made by Barrymore in a hotel cottage, which he shares with his brother, Lionel. Selznick said that he took exception to the remarks and that Barrymore challenged him to fight, striking him several times and finally forcing him to accept the challenge reluctantly.

Selznick was entertaining friends at a supper party at the hotel when the fight occurred.

PITTSTON MINE DISTRICT IS GRIPPED BY FEAR FROM FEUD

District Under Martial Law While Authorities Prepare To Check Hostilities—Town Awaits Peace.

PRINCESS DENIES REPORTED DIVORCE

BERLIN, March 1.—While Princess Victoria Zu Schaumburg-Lippe, 62, year old sister of the ex-kaiser, was denying today that she would divorce her 27 year old husband Alexander Zoubkoff, rumors of fresh scandal gathered about the name of the Russian emigre.

A dispatch from Bratislava, Czechoslovakia, said the newspaper Lidové Noviny printed an interview with Anna Pawlowa, wife of a local Czech government official, in which she claimed to be Zoubkoff's sister and further claimed the Russian was already married when he took the German princess for a wife.

Some felt that Rinaldo Cappellini, distric president of the unionists, is a marked man. His friends fear that attempts will be made on his life by a radical element among the miners. Cappellini, himself, however, refuses to leave the strife-torn area.

Pittston was virtually under martial law while authorities stood ready for the first outbreak of hostilities in the feud torn town.

Public gatherings are forbidden—the town waits hopefully for an answer from John L. Lewis to the appeal of Mayor William H. Gillespie that the mine union president come here to bring peace to the warring factions. Four men have been killed in the bitter factional strife, a fifth badly wounded, and a long list of bombings have resulted.

Prior to his visit to the bier, the king had sent an emissary to convey his condolence to the family of the late marshal. Premier Mussolini similarly sent a special emissary.

Premier Mussolini and Governor Potenziati, of Rome, visited Marshal Diaz's bier at noon. Immediately afterward it was reported that the body would be removed to the unknown soldiers tomb, there to lie in state in public to allow the people to view the remains.

Today Mussolini will deliver an eulogy in honor of the man who was held in the hearts of all Italians in a place comparable only to that held by General Pershing in America and Marshal Foch in France.

While holding the portfolio of minister of war in the Mussolini cabinet, Marshal Diaz was forced to resign because of ill health. Recently he seemed to be on the road to recovery from the liver disorder which long had troubled him, but the larger it becomes the weaker legislation and often prevents the passage of necessary legislation end.

Two sessions of more equal length would afford a complete remedy.

Rep. Combs (D) of Missouri, 28, the baby member of the house—"It is easy to find flaws in any organization in conference committees—in which six or eight men determine the character of legislation."

Another disconcerting feature is that there is too much legislation in conference committees—in which six or eight men determine the character of legislation." Senator LaFollette (R) of Wisconsin, youngest member of the amazed to find out how businesslike, bungling legislative machinery.

This question, "What is wrong with congress?" was put today to two oldest and the two youngest members in the house and senate. They agreed that while congress isn't all that it's cracked up to be in school histories, yet it isn't such a bad place after all.

They replied as follows:

Public Opinion Is Against

MONTREAL, Que., March 1.—That George McDonald will die on the scaffold in Valleyfield on March 23rd for the murder of Adelard Bouchard, according to sentence, but that Doris Juifa McDonald, his twenty-year-old wife, will escape the noose and have her sentence commuted to life imprisonment, was predicted today by Allan Smith, president of the national committee of the Canadian prisoner's welfare association.

"Although no definite promises have been given by the authorities," Smith said, "we have reason to believe that there is a feeling of leniency in the air and that the girl will not hang."

Opinion in Lachine, Quebec

where Bouchard lived and where his widow and children are struggling to wrest a living from their taxi business, is the greatest stumbling block in Doris' way to safety, the welfare president said. He found feeling there unusually bitter and the sentiment of the town in favor of a double execution.

Doctor Currie, noted Canadian woman medic and welfare worker, added her contribution to the widespread McDonald discussion today by declaring that anyone committing so brutal a crime could not be of normal mind.

Dr. Frances Palmer, foster mother of Doris, Mrs. Hazel Greco of Chicago, her mother, and Doris' child, Baby Kenneth Allen, have remained in Montreal and will stay here until the day of the execution or until commutation is granted.

They have not been to Ottawa for interviews with the minister of justice, and have no intention of visiting the capital, preferring to leave their case in the hands of attorneys until advised by them to make personal appeals for clemency.

"GET SANDINO!" CRY REDOUBLES EFFORTS OF AMERICAN TROOPS

Eight Wounded When Rebel Leader Leads Ambush Attack On Marine Pack Train—Scouts Seek Outlaw

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 1.—Get Sandino!

This cry rang through the hills of Nicaragua today as the United States marine forces redoubled their efforts to capture the guerrilla leader whose latest sally against the "devil dogs" resulted in the death of five men and the wounding of eight others.

Airplanes zoomed from the valleys to the mountain tops and flew low over jungles while observers scoured the countryside with field glasses for clues to the whereabouts of the rebel band responsible for the latest American losses.

Scouts penetrated deeply into the jungle over little-used trails in a wide search for General Sandino and his followers.

Meanwhile the wounded were being rushed to Condega. The dead are believed to have been buried near Darallil where the bandits fired from a ranch house upon a pack train commanded by Lieut. Edward F. O'Day, of New Hampshire, and consisting of thirty-six marines, six Nicaraguan muleteers and ninety mules with provisions for another outfit.

The attack occurred Monday forces now bring the total number dead and wounded were not certain until today.

May up to twenty-one.

The first word of the ambush was brought by Yali early Tuesday morning by two marines sent back by Lieut. O'Day.

The commanding officer at Yali promptly sent out a panel signal which Capt. Robert J. Archibald, a marine aviator, picked up while on daily patrol.

The news was brought here yesterday by marine aviators who flew above the survivors to the pack train, which was proceeding to Condega.

Reinforcements were rushed from Yali but in the meantime, Captain McNulty, commanding a detachment of fifty-five marines, going east from Condega over the same road on another mission, met O'Day's outfit and rendered assistance.

O'Day's pack train left Esteli last week with supplies for the Yali detachment and was returning to Condega when attacked.

Machine gun fire from a farm house at the top of a hill near Darallil took the marine detachment entirely by surprise. The men were mowed down before they had a chance to find cover.

Just such an attack had long been feared at marine headquarters because it is impossible to protect such outfits from being ambushed in the mountainous regions through which pack trains supplying outlying detachments must pass.

The exact whereabouts of Sandino can only be guessed at. He was last reported seen going toward the river Coco, with his chief of staff, General Montoya, a Honduran, and two hundred Guerrillas, in the middle of February.

federal by a South Bend, Ind. insurance company for recovery of an Overland coach, 1926 model, stolen from E. Gaddis, R. R. No. 5, Wilmington, O., last March 10.

After three months investigation, ownership of the machine was finally traced to Gaddis last Tuesday after being found in the possession of George Jacobs alias Louis Smith, 34, who was arrested last December 2 as a fugitive from justice.

Believing the car would not be recovered, Gaddis has since forfeited his right to the auto by collecting the insurance money. The auto will now be turned over to the Associated Investment Co., 604 Lowe Building, Dayton, branch of the South Bend insurance firm, which offered the reward for discovery of the machine.

TUBERCULAR DRIVE STARTED IN COUNTY BY HEALTH LEAGUE

Greene County Health League is cooperating in the nation-wide campaign for the Early Diagnosis of Tuberculosis which opened Thursday and will continue through March.

The campaign is being conducted by the National Tuberculosis Association and affiliated organizations and the Ohio Public Health Association is cooperating with the state department of health and the Ohio Tuberculosis Conference in directing the Ohio drive.

Tuberculosis caused 460 fewer deaths in Ohio in 1927 than in 1926, according to I. C. Plummer, Ohio registrar of vital statistics, which sets a new low death rate. There were 5,839 tuberculosis deaths in Ohio in 1926 and 4,623 in 1927.

Pamphlets will be distributed during March outlining the early symptoms of tuberculosis and educational posters are also being displayed. Danger signs will be emphasized in the campaign so that possible victims may begin treatment soon enough to become effective.

Establishment of tubercular clinics in Greene County later in the month will be one of the undertakings of the league here, according to Dr. R. R. McClellan. The league had charge of the sale of Christmas seals in the county during the holidays and with proceeds from that drive, has arranged for the purchase of health scales for all of the seventy-five school buildings in the county. The scales will be used to check health of school children.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi, is a liquid vegetable remedy intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsi.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world.

The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who like to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsi, and if you will once start using it you will also always have

SEWING PARTY HELD AT CEDARVILLE HOME

Mrs. C. C. Kyle opened her home Tuesday to the women of the United Presbyterian Church, Cedarville, who sewed carpet rags to be made into rugs for the girls' school at Fagoum, Egypt. Fifty women were present.

A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed at noon and the regular February meeting of the society was held in the afternoon. The business session and program was in charge of Mrs. Ethel Birch. The amount of rags totalled twenty-five pounds, to be woven into rugs by a local weaver. The society will have some rugs to sell after May 1 at the home of Mrs. J. O. Stewart.

Hostesses of the day were: Mrs. E. C. Oglesbee, Mrs. Robert Bird, Mrs. Jessie Turnbull, Mrs. Ancil Wright, Mrs. Ritenour and Mrs. R. C. Watt.

FRIENDS MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Missionary Society of Friends Church met at the home of Mrs. Alice Miars, Chestnut St., Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Anna Shaw and Mrs. Matilda Green, assistant hostesses. The devotions were led by Mrs. Anna Shaw. A number of members responded to roll call with items on the life of Lincoln. A most interesting topic on missionary study was handled by Mrs. Esther Crawford. Another good topic, "Why Lincoln was Sad" was presented by Mrs. Edna Burkett. A poem, "To-morrow," was given by Mrs. Myrtle enner. A refreshment course was served after the meeting by the hostesses.

Mr. Harry Sutton, N. King St., received a compound fracture and painful lacerations to the small finger on his left hand when the member was caught in a heavy door, separating the sales and storage rooms of the Studebaker Agency, 3, Main St., Wednesday evening. Mr. Sutton was closing the door when the accident happened.

Communion service will be held at the United Brethren Church Sunday morning and all members are urged to be present. The Woman's Missionary Society in charge of the evening service, is planning a special program. The public is invited.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—Charles Clyde Davis, Indiana national horseshoe pitching champion, today retained his crown for another year by winning the annual national tournament that ended here last night. With two full games in the finals, Davis clinched the title early in the day.

FRIENDS MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS WEDNESDAY

The Missionary Society of Friends Church met at the home of Mrs. Alice Mairs, Chestnut St., Wednesday afternoon, with Mrs. Anna Shaw and Mrs. Matilda Green, assistant hostesses.

The devotions were led by Mrs. Anna Shaw. A number of members responded to roll call with items on the life of Lincoln. A most interesting topic on missionary study was handled by Mrs. Esther Crawford. Another good topic, "Why Lincoln was Sad," was presented by Mrs. Edna Burkett. A poem, "To-morrow," was given by Mrs. Myrtle enner. A refreshment course was served after the meeting by the hostesses.

Mr. Harry Sutton, N. King St., received a compound fracture and painful lacerations to the small finger on his left hand when the member was caught in a heavy door, separating the sales and storage rooms of the Studebaker Agency, 3. Main St. Wednesday evening. Mr. Sutton was closing the door when the accident happened.

Communion service will be held at the United Brethren Church Sunday morning and all members are urged to be present. The Woman's Missionary Society in charge of the evening service, is planning a special program. The public is invited.

BELIEVE SUICIDE NOT TORCH SLAYER

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., March 1.—Police who last night viewed the body of a man who had hanged himself in the woods near here were convinced today that the suicide was not the fiend who robbed Miss Margaret Brown, New York governess, and burned her alive in a lonely spot near Morristown, N. J. First descriptions of the man had led state troopers to believe that he was the "torch killer."

The secret of this complete freedom from the many ills and upsets so common to infants? Plain old-fashioned Castoria. A million and more mothers swear by Castoria, and no wonder! A few drops and an approaching fever, cold, diarrhea or constipation seems to vanish in thin air. Castoria is purely vegetable, that is why physicians tell parents they may use it freely with children of any age—the youngest infant. And how they love the taste!

One word of warning: get the pure, real Castoria. Fletcher's Castoria is the original. It is the kind doctors specify. And with every bottle comes a book on "Care and Feeding of Babies" that is worth its weight in gold to any mother or prospective mother. So, remember; tell your druggist you wish Fletcher's Castoria. Adv.

The Good Samaritan Class, United Brethren Church, will hold the regular meeting, followed by a social hour, in the dormitory, Friday at 7:30.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 1.—Charles Clyde Davis, Indiana national horseshoe pitching champion, today retained his crown for another year by winning the annual national tournament that ended here last night. With two full games in the finals, Davis clinched the title early in the day.

Davis won the title when he defeated Duryea by a score of 50 to 30. He averaged over 70 per cent of ringers with 41 of his 58 shots on the stakes.

Plaintiff and defendant in the case of Margaret Davis, as administratrix, against Frederick Gohl in Common Pleas Court, earned an even break on decisions by the court regarding two motions filed by the plaintiff December 22.

Motion to require the defendant to make his answer more definite by declaring which two men suddenly turned and stepped in front of an automobile, was overruled.

The court, however, sustained the motion to strike out certain language from the answer. The defendant, upon application, was given ten days in which to file an amended answer.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

PRAISE IS COMELY—Praise ye the Lord: for it is good to sing praises unto our God, for it is pleasant; and praise is comely.—Psalm 147:1.

WIDER HIGHWAYS NEEDED

Wider roads are everywhere in demand. Increased traffic on public highways makes wider roads a prime essential, and political officials who fail to take this vital fact into the reckoning make a mistake.

According to a writer in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, "road widening has become a definite policy in several states in which the automobile registration is high"; one of these states has been adding strips of paving from three to six feet to some of its roads; another is placing along its roads lateral extensions of from 12 to 18 feet, and these widening policies are particularly to be noted in metropolitan areas around some of the larger and more important cities of the country. Narrow roads do not take care of the traffic, and besides, they are more dangerous than roads of wider types.

RULED BY FACTS, NOT ORATORY

A new wave of sentiment, a new tendency, is rapidly developing in America. Perhaps it may be traced to the fact that America is a nation of business. Even the laborer feels himself something of a business man. He may, and often does, own a few shares of stock in something. Like the average American citizen, he wants to see continued national progress.

There was a time when oratory and colorful arguments turned the course of events. The day has passed in America. This nation of business is hungry for facts and is using only facts as its commercial guide.

CONSTRUCTION ON WORLD-WIDE BASIS

A great deal of prominence has been given to mergers and consolidations of business and industry in this country. Banks, stores, oil companies, farmers, electric companies, gas companies, railroads and others have found it necessary to combine or merge interests in order to handle efficiently the demands of the public in a country of such vast distances as ours.

We now see the organization of the largest engineering and construction company in the United States, which probably means in the world, in Philadelphia. Four firms: the United Gas Improvement Contracting company, Philadelphia; the Public Service Production company, Newark; Dwight P. Robinson & Company, Inc., New York; and Day and Zimmerman, all widely known in this and other countries, have combined their interests in one great construction organization, the United Engineers and Constructors, Incorporated.

The point of public interest in this announcement is the rapid growth of American business enterprise in our own and other countries. Our critics have said that the United States has lagged behind as a world trader and business man because we stay too much within our own boundaries. It is organizations such as this new consolidation and others which have been launched to build up foreign trade, during the last year, that will carry the friendly spirit of America to other lands and around the world and help teach the gospel of efficiency, modern efficiency, modern business methods, good will and friendly co-operation between all people.

Engineering and construction must precede all other lines of industrial and social growth and development.

MISGUIDED

A detective says many criminals are only misguided little boys. That is worth thinking about. Frequently criminals are people not grown up mentally. We face two problems: what to do with them and how to prevent more of them being born.

CONFIDENCE

One of the richest corporations in the country is the Du Pont company, the great powder manufacturers of Delaware. It is interesting to know that the Du Pont company greatly increases its income by investments in other concerns. That company now holds about 23 per cent of the entire issue of General Motors stock. And it has put millions of dollars into other investments. This is all a hopeful sign to the small investor. These big concerns know the market. Their officers know business conditions. They know industrial confidence in this country. They are practical men. Don't worry about American industry.

BOOTLEG DIVORCES

Judge Lindsey's idea is to make divorce by mutual consent legal. As a matter of fact most divorce is now by mutual consent. Ninety-nine per cent of divorces where there are no children are now obtained by agreement among the parties, but the litigants have to go through the motions of concealing this agreement. Thus the divorces are illegally procured. Before we take up new ideas on marriage and divorce we must first find out what the facts are and what the present practice is. Part of Lindsey's idea is no more than a suggestion that what is now almost universal illegally, be made legal.

MORRIBLE!

"Do you see that young man over there? He is the black sheep of his family." "What's wrong with him?" "Well, it's this way; his father is the man who names the Pullman cars and his mother is a famous subtitle writer." "Is that so?" "Yes, but the boy has disgraced himself. He names all the new nickel candy bars."

ARE YOU ONE?

Have you ever noticed that men who are the most successful in their own business, and who have to work hard on their own projects, are usually the ones who have the most civic spirit and who do the most for their towns? Men on the brink of failure are generally not giving much time to civic enterprises. They say they haven't time. What they mean is that they do not manage their time properly. Perhaps one reason they are on the edge of failure is to be found in the fact that they take so little interest in community affairs.

LEAP YEAR

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Embarrassing Predicament

One of the best arguments against promiscuous petting comes to this desk in the form of a letter from an embarrassed young man. If you young people insist on petting—to be modern—be sure that both parties understand it means nothing.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Mine is, indeed, a difficult problem. Two years ago I met a young lady at a basketball game. She lived in a city 200 miles away. She invited me to visit her home. During the past two years I have visited at her home several times and had her at mine also.

"At present she is at a distant college. This probably sounds conceited, but I believe she loves me. Her letters have every mark of love. A few weeks ago I learned from a girl attending the same school that she refused to date because of me.

"Mrs. Lee, I like her very much, but I cannot call it love. How can I explain to her what my attitude is? I have never tried to give the impression that I was attached to her. Being modern, I pet. Do you suppose she received the idea that I loved her from those petting parties?" Her parents speak to me and thent me as if it

Cold weather boosts more lines of trade than hot weather.

It is an old saying that cold weather helps everything, except the ice and hammock business.

Rain may do good, or harm, according to what one has to sell.

And it makes a big difference in certain lines whether a rain comes on one day or another—in the morning or afternoon. Moreover, the effect on a small town store is not the same as on a city store.

In a large city, the business of a department store is seriously hurt by rain in the forenoon, but rain in the early afternoon is usually a help. Most customers of a big city department store are women and the majority live out some distance from the store—at the edge of the city, or in the suburbs. If it rains along about 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning the woman who had planned to go shopping that day is likely to change her mind although she did not intend to go until afternoon. The rain not only suggests discomfort in getting about, but diminishes her desire or immediate need for certain articles.

On the other hand, if it is bright and clear in the morning, but clouds up about noon for a heavy downpour which lasts most of the afternoon, it is the best thing that could possibly happen for the department store, because shoppers get in and cannot comfortably get out. They shop all over the store, buy lunch there, and then do more shopping.

While rain is thus helping department stores, it may hurt smaller shops, because many customers who otherwise would look around are obliged to do their buying all under one roof.

MORRIBLE!

The Daybook OF A New Yorker

—By BURTON RASCOE

NEW YORK, March 1.—A newspaper friend of mine tells me of an assignment to a pistol duel between a gang of young bandits and police. The fight took place at noon only 50 feet away from a station house. Policemen told him that they captured the leader of the gang, a vicious and very desperate young man, who had not only openly fired, when accosted by a traffic officer, but who was the guiding genius of a long string of stick-ups. He was, police said, as dangerous a fellow as they had ever captured.

My friend, the reporter, entered a rear room where prisoners are taken for questioning.

"Where is this mug?" he asked.

An officer pointed.

Surrounded by a group of questioning detective, his face one fearful scowl, my friend saw the amiable young man, who had knocked on his door the other night, explaining that he had just moved in and wanted to borrow an ice pick.

What price the slyph-like figure? There's a chubby little cherine in "Take the Air," who has her sister hofers all burnt up. After living for months on spinach, rhubarb, sauerkraut juice and assorted hay, it must be dismaying to find a girl with what used to be called a "figure" making off with the applause. For the little cherine in question weighs one hundred and thirty-five pounds, which for her profession is downright obese.

There is still some talk about abolishing trains on "death avenue" otherwise Eleventh avenue. It is a queer relic in a city that prides itself on its modern efficiency. Not only do trains run along the actual street, but they are pulled by steam, not electric locomotives. Due to an excessive number of killings, at one time, the trains now crawl along at a pace slower than a man's walk. In fact, a tramaan usually accompanies a train, stopping at every street to signal autos and pedestrians, Observations made on revisiting burlesque theaters in One hundred and Twenty-fifth street. Compared to the voice of the average burlesque chorine, the note issuing from an ungreased wagon wheel is melodious. People in evening dress are sprinkled about in the audience, seeming to indicate that Harlem's Black and tan vogue among the fashionables has been shifted slightly in the direction of downtown.

WEATHER AND BUSINESS

The effect of weather on all kinds of business is almost equal to its importance as a fulcrum on which to prop open a conversation.

The average person responds to weather in a definite manner. Seasonable weather is good for nearly every line of business where something is sold over a counter.

Cold weather boosts more lines of trade than hot weather.

It is an old saying that cold weather helps everything except the ice and hammock business.

Rain may do good, or harm, according to what one has to sell.

In a large city, the business of a department store is seriously hurt by rain in the forenoon, but rain in the early afternoon is usually a help. Most customers of a big city department store are women and the majority live out some distance from the store—at the edge of the city, or in the suburbs. If it rains along about 8 or 9 o'clock in the morning the woman who had planned to go shopping that day is likely to change her mind although she did not intend to go until afternoon. The rain not only suggests discomfort in getting about, but diminishes her desire or immediate need for certain articles.

On the other hand, if it is bright and clear in the morning, but clouds up about noon for a heavy downpour which lasts most of the afternoon, it is the best thing that could possibly happen for the department store, because shoppers get in and cannot comfortably get out. They shop all over the store, buy lunch there, and then do more shopping.

While rain is thus helping department stores, it may hurt smaller shops, because many customers who otherwise would look around are obliged to do their buying all under one roof.

MORRIBLE!

"Do you see that young man over there? He is the black sheep of his family."

"What's wrong with him?"

"Well, it's this way; his father is the man who names the Pullman cars and his mother is a famous subtitle writer."

"Is that so?"

"Yes, but the boy has disgraced himself. He names all the new nickel candy bars."

ARE YOU ONE?

Have you ever noticed that men who are the most successful in their own business, and who have to work hard on their own projects, are usually the ones who have the most civic spirit and who do the most for their towns? Men on the brink of failure are generally not giving much time to civic enterprises. They say they haven't time. What they mean is that they do not manage their time properly. Perhaps one reason they are on the edge of failure is to be found in the fact that they take so little interest in community affairs.

LEAP YEAR

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

Embarrassing Predicament

One of the best arguments against promiscuous petting comes to this desk in the form of a letter from an embarrassed young man. If you young people insist on petting—to be modern—be sure that both parties understand it means nothing.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: Mine is indeed a difficult problem. Two years ago I met a young lady at a basketball game. She lived in a city 200 miles away. She invited me to visit her home. During the past two years I have visited at her home several times and had her at mine also.

"At present she is at a distant college. This probably sounds conceited, but I believe she loves me. Her letters have every mark of love. A few weeks ago I learned from a girl attending the same school that she refused to me date because of me.

"Mrs. Lee, I like her very much, but I cannot call it love. How can I explain to her what my attitude is? I have never tried to give the impression that I was attached to her. Being modern, I pet. Do you suppose she received the idea that I loved her from those 'petting parties'?" Her parents speak to me and think me as if it is to be taken for granted that I am her fiance. Their introductions give the same idea. What would you advise me to do?

PUZZLED.

The only things you did that might have led the young lady to think you were at least interested in her were to pet with her, to visit her home and have her visit at yours. It seems to have been quite enough. The only thing you can do now is to write her that you have been "dating." When she inquires about it, be surprised and answer that until you are engaged you do not intend to confine your attention to any one young lady. One thing should lead to another, and the explanation follows naturally. She probably will feel hurt and so will her parents, but it will be better than to go on with things and drift into marriage with a girl you don't love. And, hereafter, when you are modern enough to pet, be sure the girls understand that she is expected to be modern too.

"Dear Mrs. Lee: I am a girl 20 years old. I have been going with boys ever since I was 16. After I go with a boy about a month or so I tire of him and can't seem to interest myself in him, no matter how much I love him. I thought I was at first. Can you explain this? Is it just because I haven't met the right one? I have had a quarrel with a boy friend whom I think a bit of him, not to mention his looks, are attractive. I should tell her how ugly a blackhead is, how disfiguring and how fatal to beauty.

"James Edwards, who wants his name used, has been reading a letter by a girl who calls herself Broken Hearted." He says:

"This stuff makes a man sick. You can't trust any of them (mean girls). When girls will sell their honor for a ride or a cheap meal and sneer at older people, they are not much good."

Famous Autos Even Old Score; Beat Chryslers

SPECTACULAR GAME
GIVES LOCALS WIN
OVER DAYTON 34-28

Close Defense is Feature;
To Play Middle-town

Showing a complete reversal of form, the Xenia Famous Auto Five avenged an old score with the Dayton Chryslers by winning the return game 34 to 28 in a spectacular basketball exhibition Wednesday night at Central High School gymnasium.

Because of adverse weather only a small crowd attended what was undoubtedly the best independent game of the season.

Close guarding on the part of the Xenia quintet featured the contest.

Dayton took an early lead but the local five spurred and not only evened the count at 9 to 9 early in the first half, but continued to run up the score. At the end of the half the visitors were trailing 22 to 14.

The rival quintets played on even terms the second half but the Auto Five maintained its lead at all times although the Chryslers were always dangerous.

Earlier in the season the Chryslers, which tied for leadership of the Dayton Commercial League, had set back the Xenia team 53 to 39, and Wednesday night's victory was sweet revenge.

Gegner played a stellar role in the Xenia offensive with six baskets and one foul for thirteen points. Smith and Leopard followed with six points apiece. LeSourd was watched closely and garnered but five markers.

Scott was high-point man for the Chryslers, scoring fifteen points on four personal fouls. Akers, who scored twenty-three points in before he dropped out of the pic, the first game between the two teams, was guarded so effectively that he only tallied one basket.

Xenia outscored the Chryslers from the field, registering fifteen baskets to eleven for its opponents. Dayton shot six fouls to Xenia's four.

Leopard, Xenia guard, retired from the contest on personal fouls but as a whole the contest was fast and cleanly fought.

Xenia will travel to Middletown Thursday night for a game with the strong Crystal-Tissue team. Next Wednesday the local quintet will encounter the Bloomsburg Independents of Bloomsburg, O., a team that has won twenty-six out of thirty games this season. The score:

ANTIOCH ALL-STAR TEAM BEATS MARION

Reversing a previous two-point defeat, the Antioch All-Stars defeated the Butler Aces, amateur champions of Marion, O., 45 to 33 in a return basketball game at Kelly Hall, Antioch College, Wednesday night.

Earlier this season the Marion independent team had set back the All-Stars 43 to 41 but the Antioch quintet was strengthened for the second game by the addition of Teagarden and Bostwick, ex-college stars, to the lineup.

WILMINGTON DEFEATS "YELLOW JACKETS" BY 52 TO 38 COUNT

Cedarville, Handicapped By Injury To R. Jacobs, Unable To Check "Green Tornado" In Tilt At Cedarville

Presenting a fast and puzzling offense, Wilmington College at Alford gymnasium Wednesday night had a comparatively easy 52 to 38 victory over Cedarville College at the first half.

The "Yellow-Jackets" started off in fine fashion and were leading the visitors until the middle of the first half. At this point the "Green Tornado" overhauled Coach Best's pets and at the half-way post Wilmington was leading 24 to 18.

Cedarville launched a spasmodic rally in the second half and evened the count but was unable to stand the pace and soon dropped far behind.

R. Jacobs, stellar back guard, who is suffering from a badly sprained ankle, entered the game in an effort to stem the tide but was unable to navigate about the floor in his usual fashion and finally gave it up as bad job.

H. Weimer, guard, was high-scoring for Wilmington with sixteen points, while Von Kanel, forward, was runner-up with thirteen counts. Wilson tallied nine.

Adair led the Cedarville attack with ten points followed by Nagley and Fisher with nine and eight points respectively.

Von Kanel and Smith for Wilmington, and Gordon and Fisher for Cedarville were forced out on personal foul, but the contest was fast and clean.

Cedarville tallied sixteen points from the free throw line against eight for Wilmington.

In an interesting preliminary game, Cedarville reserves defeated the Wilmington College second team 33 to 29. Morton topped Cedarville with ten points while Carey showed the way for Wilmington with eight.

Cedarville will play a return game with Kent State Normal College at Alford gym Thursday night.

This contest should be a thriller as the "Yellow-Jackets" outdistanced Kent by one point in the last few seconds of play on the Kent floor last week. The score:

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches rub on good old Musterole.

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness.

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu.

Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist, (adv.)

DRINK WATER IF BACK OR KIDNEYS HURT

Begin Taking Salts if You Feel Backache or Have Bladder Weakness

Too much rich food forms acids which excrete and overwork the kidneys in their efforts to filter it from the system. Flush the kidneys occasionally to relieve them. If you relieve the bowels, removing stools, waste and poison, you may feel a dull misery in the kidney region; sharp pains in the back or back braceache, diarrhea, as stomach sores, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, the channels often get irritated, causing one to get up two or three times during the night.

To help neutralize these irritating acids and then off the body's urinary waste, begin drinking water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any pharmacy, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine and bladder disorders disappear.

This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys and stop bladder irritation. Jad Salts is inexpensive and makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to help prevent serious kidney and bladder disorders.

Skin Eruptions successfully treated from within

KILLED physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system.

This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful skin annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself and friends to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build rich, red blood—those vitalizing elements in the blood that build and sustain the body.

In building rich, red blood cells, S.S.S. improves the processes by which the body is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good."

until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy."

REMOVE PRISONER FROM DAYTON JAIL

Paul Fettner, alias Paul Sheridan, 35, Columbus, arrested in Greene County for alleged violation of the federal narcotic law, has been removed from the Montgomery County Jail to the Miami County Jail at Troy, according to Sheriff Oliver Tate.

It is expected that further questions will be put to Fettner in an effort to trace ownership of dental gold valued at between $400 and $500 found in his possession when arrested at Waynesville several weeks ago.

Sheriff Tate received a long-distance telephone call from police at Connerville, Ind., early Thursday morning and learned that a number of dentist's offices in that city have been robbed in the last few months with dental gold comprising part of the loot obtained.

Alice White, rising young movie actress, who is being put forward as a rival for Clara Bow's flapper film crown. Alice's work in support of Ruth Taylor in "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," brought her a great deal of notice.

Rogers, William Haines and George O'Brien and so his next release "The Tempest" may be his last. He is going to return to the stage and screen. Stage managers have been trying to lure him away from Hollywood two seasons. England wants to see him in "Hamlet" again. He can have his pick of a half dozen important roles in forthcoming New York plays of importance.

"A Girl in Every Port" is said to be a picture for men that will make the girls mad because it slaps at the weaker sex. With Victor McLaglen and a bevy of cuties, including Louise Brooks.

READ THIS FIRST:
Jill Justin, ultra-modern at 20, and adorably pretty, starts out on a moonlit night in August, accompanied by her brother Tony, to attend a harvest festival in their home town of Elliston, W. Va.

They run into an automobile hold-up. Jill is kidnapped by bandits, but is rescued by Jack Stuart, who returns her to her home. It is the old, old story revamped. Jack stops for a visit and remains to wed the lovely Jill.

Three years pass into the discord, finding the young couple the happy parents of a pair of twin boys and a girl. Life has been very kind to them, despite the hard times.

Now comes the Great Event. Stuart and Tony Justin buy a tungsten mine and sell a four interest in it for $100,000 to Pat Sweeney, father of Mary, whom he has nicknamed "Mike," a typical flapper, but a "square shooter" as even her enemies admit.

To the Stuarts, their wealth seems limitless. Easy Money! Instead of joy, it seems to have brought distrust and jealousy. Gilded evils unknown to them before, now threaten the very foundations of their home.

Enter, the beautiful divorcee, Nita Ravelle, and Francois Le Tarte, the dancing man.

Jill and Tony accept an offer of a dancing engagement at a hotel in Pittsburgh. Mike Sweeney takes a party of friends to witness their premiere. Nita Ravelle and Professor Le Tarte included.

Jill awaits Jack's coming in their own room, while he spends time with Nita Ravelle. Then Jack comes to her with excuses she knows untrue. The Elliston party returns home, and on the following Friday, Tony, having imbibed too freely and his contract revoked, returns also with a tale of a broken contract that Jill may have Le Tarte in his stead.

Nita Ravelle seems to fairly hypnotize Jack Stuart. Madly jealous, Jill turns to Le Tarte for sympathy. She refuses Jack's demand to stop dancing professionally with Le Tarte, and Jack and Jill drift dangerously close to the shoals of marital strife. Some morning later Jill returns home and reconciliation is supreme.

(Now Go On With The Story)

CHAPTER XXXVII
The father, grandfather and uncle of the twins made no pretense of knowing which was which, or whether Paul was Peter or Peter was Paul. To make the resemblance still more striking, Jill invariably dressed them precisely alike.

"It'll be tough on both of 'em when they get old enough to 'lick'" remarked Jack, discussing the pair that afternoon before Christmas, as Peter Justin and Father Pat and son sat smoking in the living room containing the tree. Half the time Peter'll be getting Paul's licking, or vice versa.

There'll be no lickings for either Peter or Paul," announced the Lady of the House, chancing to hear the remark. If she proceeded with calm deliberation, such an unlikely thing should arise that either deserved punishment there are plenty of ways besides whipping!

Remember th' old biblical adage, said Father Pat, who was not above contradicting certain scriptural passages. "We are warned to 'spare not the rod lest we spoil the child,' you know."

"There may be children," agreed Jill matter-of-factly, "who might be spoiled by th' sparing of th' rod. But mine are not that kind. They are too much like me; easy enough to persuade through kindness, but impossible to drive. Both Peter and Paul can be coaxed into doing what they really dislike. But try and drive them. It can't be done!" She turned suddenly at the conclusion of her speech to her father.

"I really don't remember, Dad," she said, inquiringly. "Did you ever give me a spanking or tanning, or any kind of corporal chastisement?"

Peter Justin chuckled. Then he chuckled again, softly. "Once, when you were 'so-year-old—about so big,' holding his hand waist high from the floor to indicate height—a little past five, and Tony was just four, you disappeared one day, taking him with you. It was early in the forenoon when his and your absence was reported to me. Just as th' shades of twilight were falling, you came home, dragging him with you, both of you tired out, dirty and sun-burned—and nearly starved."

"Where had you been? Not till the next morning, when you woke up, did we learn. You had 'just been down to th' river, learning to swim!'

"Can you imagine now, Jill?" asked Peter Justin, his whimsical smile taking on an added softness as he looked at his pretty daughter, the mother now of three beautiful children of her own, "can you imagine how I felt—you five, and Tony four, and playing all day along along a river where, at any moment you might have stepped into a hole and drowned?"

"You needed a licking, of course. But I decided to make it a lesson you would remember. So I went out into th' orchard and cut a gad. But I ran my knife blade around it in several places so that it would break easily."

"Now, my daughter," I said, after I had led you—th' two of you—into th' woodshed, "you have been a naughty, a very naughty girl, taking your little brother, as you did, off into such danger."

"But, I went on, trying to be very impressive, 'just as you are th' older and should be punished for leading your brother into danger, so am I, being older than you guilty of wrong.' So I should be punished for not watching you closer."

"Therefore, my daughter," I said, "you must punish me. Take this whip and break it up over your big sums, but just enough to make him cautious.

One day, in a conversation with Mike Sweeney and Nita Ravelle, Tony inadvertently referred to the Casino.

"Oh, I'd give anything to see that place in operation!" exclaimed

A glorious Christmas eve! A glorious dinner party! A glorious light that shone like that wondrous star of another Christmas eve in the dark brown eyes of Jill Stuart!

"God has been good to me, Father Pat!" she whispered, happily, to the priest some time later, as she paused for a moment at his side. Baby Helen had gone to sleep, and Jill was taking her to her crib in the nursery. Peter and Paul were still "carrying on," waiting to greet Santa Claus—Alias Tony in this instant—"expected along any time now!"

Father Ryan nodded his benison head in response to his god-child's declaration.

"May His blessings continue forever my daughter," he said, in a fervent tone. But in the depths of the great dark eyes there was a brooding look, a look that seemed to presage heartache and disaster!

Since the enactment of the Volstead law, which marked the coming of the modern flapper into her own—her private flask and the fast-stepping life of today—the country roadhouse has sprung up in almost every community throughout the land.

* * * Some ten miles west of Elliston, and on a detour that branched off from the main highway, was located the Casino. This was a great, rambling, castle-like structure supposed to be patterned after the famous Casino of Monte Carlo. It was something on the order of a stockade. Here every device known to gambling could be found.

During the months following the Pat Sweeney "windfall," when Tony Justin came into possession of $50,000 cash, the young "hooper" had visited the Casino some half dozen times. Fortunately, for his bank account, Tony had lost and won rather consistently—not any friend, and I hate to see him walk into a trap, which is just what he is going to do this afternoon!"

"A trap" repeated Jack, alarm in his voice. "What d'you mean trap?"

"Well, it's just like this. Stuart, come back the voice. "A pair o' gamblers have got Tony in tow an they're steering him out to the Casino—you know that gambling roa house." They induced him to draw eight grand—$8,000—outta th' ban on th' old wire-tapping scheme, t clean th' cleaners—you know wha it is. Of course he hasn't a chance in th' world. I've called you up so you can get out there and put him wise. I'd go myself, but Tony prob'ly wouldn't listen to me. He would just left—but if you hurried yo get it, as shall be disclosed shortly."

It was about 3 p.m. on the day after Christmas that the Stuart telephone rang. Jill had gone out about noon—to do some shopping, she told Jack—"th' inevitable after-Christmas shopping." So Jack answered the phone.

"Mister Stuart—Jack Stuart?" enquired an unfamiliar voice, in response to Jack's "hello."

"This is Jack Stuart talking," the latter replied.

"Well, then, please listen, Mister Stuart," came the voice across the wire. "You don't know me, but I'm a friend of Tony Justin, a good long!"

Before Jack had thought to ask the name of his informant, the man on the other end of the wire hung up the receiver.

What should he do? He asked himself the question, but he knew, of course there was only one thing for him to do. His wife's kid brother was in the toils of sharpers and stood to lose $8,000. He must make all possible haste in getting out to the Casino.

He called one of the girls, Clara No Use, he thought, in worrying Jill with the truth.

READ THIS FIRST:

Jill Justin, ultra-modern at 20, and adorably pretty, starts out on a moonlit night in August, accompanied by her brother Tony, to attend a harvest festival in their home town of Elliston, W. Va.

They run into an automobile hold-up; Jill is kidnaped by bandits, but is rescued by Jack Stuart, who returns her to her home. It is the old, old story revamped; Jack stops for a visit and remains to wed the lovely Jill.

Three years pass into the discord, finding the young couple the happy parents of a pair of twin boys and a girl. Life has been very kind to them, despite the hard times.

Now comes the Great Event. Stuart and Tony Justin buy a tungsten mine and sell a four interest in it for $100,000 to Pat Sweeney, father of Mary, whom he has nicknamed "Mike," a typical flapper, but a "square shooter" as even her enemies admit.

To the Stuarts, their wealth seems limitless. Easy Money instead of joy, it seems to have brought distrust and jealousy. Gilded evils unknown to them before, now threaten the very foundations of their home.

Enter, the beautiful divorcee Nita Ravelle, and Francois Le Tarte, the dancing man.

Jill and Tony accept an offer of a dancing engagement at a hotel in Pittsburgh. Mike Sweeney takes a party of friends to witness their premiere. Nita Ravelle and Francois Le Tarte included.

Jill awaits Jack's coming in their own room, while he spends time with Nita Ravelle. Then Jack comes to her with excuses she knows untrue. The Elliston party returns home, and on the following Friday Tony, having imbibed too freely, and his contract revoked, returns also with a tale of a broken contract that Jill may have Le Tarte in his stead.

Nita Ravelle seems to faintly hypnotize Jack Stuart. Madly jealous, Jill turns to Le Tarte for sympathy. She refuses Jack's demand to stop dancing professionally with Le Tarte and Jack and Jill are dangerously close to the shores of marital strife. Some morning after Jill returns home and recompunction is supreme.

The father, grandfather and uncle of the twins made no pretense of knowing which was which, or whether Paul was Peter or Peter was Paul. To make the resemblance still more striking Jill invariably dressed them precisely alike.

"It'll be tough on both of 'em when they get old enough to kick," remarked Jack, discussing the pair that afternoon before Christmas, as Peter Justin and Father Pat sat smoking in the living room containing the tree. Half the time Peter'll be getting Paul's licking, or vice versa."

There'll be no lolling for either Peter or Paul," announced the Lady of the House, chancing to hear the remark. If she proceeded with calm deliberation, such an unlikely thing should arise that either deserved punishment, there are plenty of ways besides whipping!"

"I really don't remember, Dad," she said, inquiringly. "Did you ever give me a spanking or fanning, or—any kind of corporal chastisement?"

Peter Justin chuckled. Then he laughed. Then he laughed some more. Finally, when the mirth engendered by recollections that had grown dim with the years had subsided, he made answer to his daughter's question.

"Once," he began, and then he chuckled again, softly. "Once, when you were so-year-old—about so big"—holding his hand waist high from the floor to indicate height—"a little past five, and Tony was just four, you disappeared one day, taking him with you. "You needed a licking, of course. But I decided to make it a lesson you would remember. So I went out into th' orchard and cut a gad. But I ran my knife blade around it in several places so that it would break easily."

"Well, I'll take you out sometime—maybe," said Tony, who was an excellent promiser and then straight-way forgot about it. But there was one who did not forget just left—but if you hurried you could get at there in time. So long!"

It was about 3 p.m. on the day after Christmas that the Stuart telephone rang. Jill had gone out about noon—to do some shopping, she told Jack—"th' inevitable after-Christmas shopping." So Jack answered the phone.
